1. Either use a brush to paint both your hands green, or place green paint on a paper plate and smush your hands in it. Cover the palms and fingers of your hands in green paint.

2. Put paper in portrait position. Place 3-4 handprints in a row, reapply the paint and make another row of handprints above the first row – but one less, then repeat until you have only one handprint at the top.

3. Wash up and dip the brush in brown paint to make a tree stump. You can also decorate the tree with arts and craft supplies such as glitter and pompoms.
